Coast Guard cutter Active returns home after 52-day patrol

USCG release - Coast Guard Cutter Active patrols the waters off Oregon - SEATTLE — Coast Guard Cutter Active returned to its homeport in Port Angeles, Wash., Friday, Sept. 27 after a 52-day patrol off the Washington and Oregon coast. Active’s crew executed the fast-paced patrol enforcing federal fisheries regulations as part of Operation Pacific Fortune. The operation is focused on ensuring the vitality of Pacific Northwest fish stocks, maintaining a level playing field amongst fishers, and safeguarding the commercial and recreational fishing industries. These industries contribute more than eight billion dollars to the economy, and the hundreds of millions of dollars in commercial landings fuel economic activity in dozens of small, fishery dependent communities along the Washington and Oregon coasts. The Active established an overt presence amongst the West Coast albacore tuna fleet, which congregates off the Pacific Northwest coast each summer, enforcing domestic fisheries regulations and maintaining the integrity of the U.S. exclusive economic zone (EEZ). Maritime law enforcement teams from the Active boarded 61 commercial fishing vessels, documenting a wide range of safety and fisheries violations, including retention of prohibited species and the use of illegal gear. the deployment included support of international agreements. Under the U.S. Canada Albacore Tuna Treaty, 45 Canadian-flagged vessels are specifically authorized in the EEZ for a prescribed time period. To strengthen this international partnership between the Coast Guard and Canada’s Department of Fisheries & Oceans (DFO) Pacific Region, the Active crew welcomed aboard a Canadian DFO Enforcement Officer for joint law enforcement boardings. The unified effort between the two countries demonstrated a shared commitment to managing precious natural resources. “It is important to conduct boardings at sea to verify compliance with fisheries regulations and validate that the vessel and crew meet safety and equipment requirements,” said Cmdr. James O’Mara, Active’s commanding officer. “If fisheries violations are observed, we partner with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and their agents for follow-up case work. On the safety side, the Coast Guard is interested in preventing search and rescue cases just as much as we are committed to responding to them. While a dockside inspection establishes a useful baseline, our job at sea is to ensure safety gear onboard works properly while offshore. An inspection that may have occurred two or more years ago may not necessarily represent current working conditions. Some of the vessels have not been boarded at sea in more than 7-10 years, some never boarded at all.” Equipped with two small boats, a helicopter flight deck, and refueling capabilities, the 210-foot Medium Endurance Cutter offers additional response options for law enforcement or search and rescue cases offshore. The Active crew practiced day and night helicopter landings with Coast Guard aircrews stationed out of Port Angeles, and North Bend, Ore., as well as helicopter in-flight refueling and hoist operations with aircrews from Astoria, Ore. In total, more than 75 helicopter evolutions were conducted, increasing the proficiency for the Active crew, and multiple Coast Guard aircrews. “We’re very pleased with everything we accomplished this patrol,” said Cmdr. O’Mara. “For years we have been focused on counter narcotics – and necessarily so. But this shifting of gears off our own coasts, to focus on fisheries, safety, search and rescue – it was fantastic. The crew of the Active stepped up in spectacular fashion.” More frequent patrols are planned with Coast Guard assets during peak commercial fishing seasons to maximize presence and at sea enforcement. As the Coast Guard recapitalizes its cutter fleet, newer and more capable patrol boats can push further south to impact the counter narcotics mission, freeing up medium endurance cutters, like the Active, to rebalance coverage along the Pacific Coast. The Coast Guard will continue to work closely with the commercial fishing industry, fisheries management councils, tribal representatives, and state and federal agencies for a cooperative approach to manage our natural resources, and mitigate risk in the maritime environment.

Stolen Vehicle Found Burning

On Thursday, 09-05-2019, at about 1:37 AM, the Lincoln City Police and North Lincoln Fire & Rescue were dispatched to the Holmes Road Park on a report of a vehicle on fire at that location. One of the initial complainants reported hearing an explosion just before seeing a car on fire. Upon arriving at the park, Lincoln City Police officers found an SUV type vehicle on fire and over the embankment near the water line of Devils Lake. No one was seen in the area and the vehicle appeared unoccupied. North Lincoln Fire & Rescue arrived on scene and quickly began fire suppression efforts on the vehicle as well as on the embankment foliage as it had also caught fire. North Lincoln Fire & Rescue personnel were able to quickly extinguish the vehicle and embankment fire and it was determined there was no one in the vehicle. Because the front of the vehicle had become submerged in the lake during the fire suppression efforts, the Oregon Environmental Response System was activated due to possible hazardous substances that may have leached into the lake. Once the SUV was pulled up from the embankment later in the morning, investigators were able to determine it was a 2019 Toyota 4runner that was reported stolen out of the Salem area. The vehicle was towed from the scene by Car Care Tow Pro. The investigation into the suspicious circumstances and fire involved with this incident is continuing. Anyone with any information regarding this incident is asked to contact Detective James Burke at the Lincoln City Police Department, 541-994-3636.

Traffic Woes in Reedsport

ODOT release - On Friday, August 30, southbound U.S. 101 traffic experienced long backups in Reedsport. We would like to explain what happened and what this will mean for Labor Day traffic. Over the past several months, ODOT has been working to convert the half-mile section of U.S. 101 in Reedsport between Schofield Creek and 22nd Street (near the high school) from four lanes to three. We believe this new pattern will improve safety and the flow of traffic when completed. This past week, our work crews applied the three-lane striping pattern to this area. But there is one important task that remains unfinished. At each traffic signal, there are sensors embedded in the pavement that cause the signals to change. Unfortunately, we have not yet relocated these sensors to the center of the new travel lanes. On Friday, we saw an increase in southbound traffic as motorists traveled to their holiday weekend destinations. Vehicles entering the Reedsport project area on U.S. 101 were stopping at red lights but were not tripping the sensors. This resulted in traffic backing up. We will not be able to move the sensors before Labor Day, but we have identified another possible solution. Throughout Monday, ODOT will position flaggers in Reedsport. If traffic backs up in the project area, we will turn the signals off and allow the flaggers to provide traffic control until the congestion clears. Traffic through Reedsport is expected to be heavy on Monday, especially between the hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Motorists should expect congestion and delays at these times. For more information, text or call ODOT Project Information Officer Dan Latham at 541-817-5200 or Dan.Latham@odot.state.or.us.

Distracted Driver Coverage on Central Coast

During the month of August, the Lincoln City Police Department utilized traffic safety grant funds to put extra patrol officers on duty specifically for the enhanced enforcement of Distracted Driving laws. Two enhanced enforcement operations were conducted resulting in 11 citations being issued for distracted driving along with 2 citations for driving while suspended, 2 citations for speeding, and 2 citations for other violations. With the new school year beginning, the Lincoln City Police Department plans on utilizing grant funds to conduct additional enhanced enforcement operations for Distracted Driving during the month of September. As a reminder it is imperative for drivers to fully focus on the task of safely driving their vehicle and to not let anything divert their attention from that task. Drivers need to be paying attention and actively scanning the road ahead of them while watching out for pedestrians and cyclists as well as school busses picking up or dropping off children. The emphasis for the officers working these enhanced enforcement operations is to find and stop drivers who are distracted by talking or texting on their cell phones or using other electronic devices while they are operating their vehicle. Our goal is simple: to increase the safety of the citizens and visitors of Lincoln City by keeping distracted drivers off the roadways and preventing crashes that can cause injuries and cost lives. These grant funds were made possible through the Oregon Department of Transportation and Oregon Impact.

Douglas Co. DUII Report

The Roseburg Police Department participated in focused DUII enforcement patrols throughout the month of September thanks to a grant obtained from the Oregon Department of Transportation and Oregon Impact. During September the Roseburg Police Department arrested 13 people for suspicion of driving a vehicle while impaired by alcohol, drugs or a combination of the two. Grants such as this one provides our Officers with the ability to focus on problems they wouldn't necessarily be able to focus on during normal patrol.

Coast Guard Responds to Bonneville Lock closure

PORTLAND, Ore. --- The Coast Guard is closely monitoring the impact on vessel traffic Monday, Sept. 9, due to the extended closure of a lock on the Columbia River. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers placed the Bonneville Navigation Lock out of service Friday after discovering a mechanical issue. The lock has been drained and inspected, and repairs to damaged concrete are still in progress. Coast Guard Sector Columbia River Waterways Management Division contacted local commercial fleets and have reported that 14 commercial vessels will be impacted by the lock closure: Seven from Tide Water Barge; Four from Shaver Transportation; Three from American Cruise Line. "We appreciate the close coordination with Portland Army Corps of Engineers staff as we work together to ensure the safe reopening of the lock and waterway, given the area's importance to transportation and commerce," said Capt. Alan Moore, the commanding officer at Coast Guard Marine Safety Unit Portland. The Bonneville Dam is 40-miles east of Portland and is the first in a series of eight dams on the Columbia and Snake rivers, which together make up an artery for goods flowing into and out of the region.

"We searched extensively with our local partners for two days to locate the two people," said LT Josh McElhaney, the command duty officer at the Sector Puget Sound Command Center. "Suspending a search is one of the most difficult decisions the Coast Guard has to make, and it is a decision that is made with great care and deliberation. We search for the missing as if one of our own is missing." The Coast Guard is asking the public to call the Coast Guard Sector Puget Sound Command Center at 206-217-6001 with any information that can help locate the two missing people.

OSSA Promotes School Bus Safety

The Oregon State Sheriffs Association (OSSA) has partnered with TGF Productions to produce a public service announcement highlighting the importance of school bus safety. "We are proud to help promote school bus safety," said Sheriff Craig Roberts, President of the Oregon State Sheriffs' Association. "We know many kids ride the bus every day to and from school and we want to make sure they stay safe." Oregon elementary school students participated in the public service announcement along with Sheriff's from across the state. The School Bus Safety PSA will air in television markets throughout Oregon. The PSA reminds drivers to stop when the red lights are flashing to allow for kids to safely cross the street. While school buses remain one of the safest way for kids to get to school, accidents can happen. Making sure that other drivers obey the traffic rules is essential for student safety. Marine Board Seeks Public's Help to ID Boat Operator

The Marine Board and Clackamas County Marine Patrol seek the public's help on an incident that occurred on Wednesday, August 28, near Elk Island and the Cedaroak Park on the Willamette River. A four-person rowing scull was positioned to begin practice while waiting for another crew boat and the safety chase boat, when a wakeboard boat accelerated in close proximity, creating a large wake. Based on the information provided by the rowing team, the rowing scull did not have enough time to maneuver their boat in a position to take the wake, and the boat's stern submerged and uplifted with enough force that the boat cracked in half, ejecting the rowers into the water. The team was not able to identify the boat's registration numbers because they immediately tended to each other's safety. Fortunately, no one was seriously injured, but the rowing scull was "totaled." The wakeboard boat operator did not stop. There have been multiple incidents this summer where other watercraft have been swamped or capsized by wakeboard boats. Anytime boaters are involved in any form of accident, they have a duty to stop and render aid. "As boaters, we have a time-honored duty of rendering assistance anytime a fellow boater is in need," says Larry Warren, Director for the Marine Board. "This includes aiding in rescue as your safely able, staying on-scene until everyone is safe and reporting information that aids in any subsequent investigation." If anyone witnessed this incident, they are asked to contact the Clackamas County Marine Patrol Unit at 503-655-8218. The Marine Board urges boaters that if they "see something, say something," if they witness any form of unsafe operation or behavior. "We need to share the waterways and it starts with courtesy, paying close attention to your surroundings and your own operation, so it doesn't negatively impact others' enjoyment of the waterways," Warren adds. "Reckless operation" is when a boat is operated in a manner that endangers the safety of persons or property (ORS 830.315). "This is a serious offense and the offender must be held accountable," emphasizes Warren. "If someone saw this happen, please contact the Clackamas County Marine Patrol."

State investigating death from severe lung illness linked to vaping

The Oregon Health Authority is investigating the recent death of an individual who had severe respiratory illness following use of an e-cigarette, which is also known as a vaping device. Investigators at the OHA Public Health Division say they received reports that the individual, who died in July, had recently used an e-cigarette or vaping device containing cannabis purchased from a cannabis dispensary. OHA officials say the individual's symptoms were consistent with those of more than 200 similar cases in a national cluster of respiratory illness, mostly affecting teenagers and young adults, in at least 25 states. "We don't yet know the exact cause of these illnesses — whether they're caused by contaminants, ingredients in the liquid or something else, such as the device itself," said Ann Thomas, M.D., public health physician at OHA's Public Health Division. Those who have fallen ill have been hospitalized after experiencing worsening symptoms including shortness of breath, cough, chest pain, vomiting, diarrhea, fatigue, fever or weight loss. The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the affected states have not identified a cause, but all cases have reported e-cigarette use or vaping. OHA investigators and local public health authorities are urging clinicians to be on alert for signs of severe respiratory illness among patients who recently used vaping products, including e-cigarettes, and report any cases. Clinicians can contact the on-call epidemiologist at 971-673-1111. Before the new illness reports, OHA was already concerned about the health risks of vaping products. A recent report by the agency details the health risks for the products including nicotine addiction, exposure to toxic chemicals known to cause cancer and increases in blood pressure. Individuals who have recently used vaping products such as e-cigarettes and are having difficulty breathing should seek medical attention immediately. If you or someone you know is ready to quit using tobacco, including vaping products such as e-cigarettes, free help is available from the following resources: 800-QUIT-NOW (800-784-8669), quitnow.net. Español: 855-DEJALO-YA (855-335-35692), quitnow.net/oregonsp. www.thisisquitting.com (quit resource for youth). For more information about OHA's investigation, visit healthoregon.org/acd.

How do you see yourself?

By Pastor Bridgette Whinery

Do you see yourself as worthless and not good enough for anybody? Do you put yourself down all the time? The Bible says in the first part of Proverbs 23:7 (KJV) "For as he thinketh in his heart, so is he." When we take the wrong opinion of who we are, we won't change. We need to take the opinion of who God says we are. In Psalms 139:14 the Bible says "I am fearfully and wonderfully made." Fearfully means to stand in awe. When God made you, He stood in awe and thought you were wonderful. Ephesians 2:10 (KJV) says, "For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them." I need to take God's opinion of who I am. Only then can I change. God has plans for me and for you. Jeremiah 29:11 (KJV) says, "For I know the thoughts that I think toward you, saith the Lord, thoughts of peace, and not of evil, to give you an expected end." Or as some translations say, to give you a hope and a future. It's time to start looking to God and see what He has to say about me and you and let that be our opinion about ourselves. Then we will start to see change in our lives!

We would like to invite you this Sunday morning...
