Fireworks in Oregon 2020

The Office of State Fire Marshal, Oregon fire service, natural resource agencies, Oregon licensed fireworks wholesalers, and health and safety experts want to encourage Oregonians to “keep it legal and keep it safe” when using legal fireworks. The 2020 Oregon fireworks retail sales season opens June 23 and runs through July 6. “Oregonians can help each other and especially our first responders by keeping all fireworks use safe and legal, especially now with greater risks of wildfire this fire season and the stresses that COVID-19 is putting on our systems,” said Mark Johnston, assistant chief deputy fire marshal. “Our office’s fireworks safety and education materials reinforce these important messages to help prevent unwanted fires, wildfires, and calls to responders or visits to our medical facilities.” The OSFM is providing downloadable items that help Oregonians understand the fireworks that are legal to use in Oregon without a permit, where they are permitted to be used, and the important safety steps to take when using fireworks. The OSFM is asking Oregonians to share this information with their friends, families, and neighbors. OSFM’s fireworks materials can be found on its website. The OSFM encourages everyone to use the four Bs of safe fireworks use: Be prepared before lighting fireworks: keep water available by using a garden hose or bucket. Be safe when lighting fireworks: keep children and pets away from fireworks. Be responsible after lighting fireworks: never relight a dud. Wait 15 to 20 minutes, then soak it in a bucket of water before disposal. Be aware: use only legal fireworks and use them only in legal places. The OSFM website also provides FAQs for commonly answered questions about the sale and legal use of consumer fireworks, permits for the retail sale of fireworks, and state rules for their use and enforcement activities. In Oregon, officials may seize illegal fireworks and charge offenders with a class B misdemeanor, which could result in a fine of up to $2,500 per violation and a civil penalty of up to $500. Those who misuse fireworks or allow fireworks to cause damage are liable and may be required to pay fire suppression costs or other damage. Parents are also liable for fireworks damage caused by their children. Despite their regulated sale and use, fireworks in Oregon continue to cause public safety and health threats every year. In 2020, the Oregon fire service faces additional burdens of protecting their personnel from exposure to COVID-19 and serving the public with the disease in circulation. For the last reported five years through 2019, there were 1,173 reported fireworks-related fires in Oregon, resulting in more than $4.9 million in property loss and contents damage. During that same period, fires resulting from fireworks resulted one death and 37 injuries. For more information on fireworks in Oregon, visit the OSFM website.

State Fire Marshal Fireworks Concerns

The Office of State Fire Marshal, the Oregon Fire Service, natural resource agencies, Oregon licensed fireworks wholesalers, and safety experts are asking Oregonians to “keep it legal and keep it safe” when using all fireworks. The 2020 Oregon fireworks retail sales season opened June 23 and runs through July 6. The OSFM and its partners want everyone to know what fireworks are legal to use in Oregon without a permit, where they are allowed to be used, and how to use fireworks safely. “In Oregon, consumer legal fireworks can only be purchased from permitted fireworks retailers and stands,” says State Fire Marshal Jim Walker. “State regulations limit where those fireworks may be used. Starting in July, risks for wildfire in many parts of Oregon will be high. Fireworks can also start structural fires that threaten lives and property, as we have seen in past years.” Residents who plan to visit public lands and parks for the July Fourth holiday are asked to leave all fireworks at home. The use of fireworks is prohibited in national parks and forests, on Bureau of Land Management lands, on U.S. Fish and Wildlife properties, on state beaches, in state parks, and in state campgrounds. For residents who purchase legal fireworks, the OSFM encourages everyone to practice the four Bs of safe fireworks use: Be prepared before lighting fireworks: keep water available by using a garden hose or bucket. Be safe when lighting fireworks: keep children and pets away from fireworks. Be responsible after lighting fireworks: never relight a dud. Wait 15 to 20 minutes then soak it in a bucket of water before disposal. Be aware: use only legal fireworks and use them only in legal places. Oregon law prohibits the possession, use, or sale of any firework that flies into the air, explodes, or travels more than 12 feet horizontally on the ground, without a permit issued by the OSFM. Fireworks commonly called bottle rockets, Roman candles, and firecrackers are illegal in Oregon, without a permit. For the last reported five years through 2019, there were 1,173 reported fireworks-related fires in Oregon, resulting in more than $4.9 million in property loss and contents damage. During that same period, fires resulting from fireworks resulted in one death and 36 injuries. The data from structural fire agencies do not include incidents that occurred on federal and other state lands. Officials may seize illegal fireworks and charge offenders with a class B misdemeanor, which could result in a fine of up to $2,500 per violation and a civil penalty of up to $500. Those who misuse fireworks or allow fireworks to cause damage are liable and may be required to pay fire suppression costs or other damage. Parents are also liable for fireworks damage caused by their children. “All of us share the responsibility to use only Oregon consumer legal fireworks and use them carefully,” adds Walker. “Please also consider your neighbors and their pets before deciding on when and where you choose to light legal fireworks.” The OSFM has published FAQs for commonly answered questions about the sale and legal use of consumer fireworks, permits for the retail sale of fireworks, and state rules for their use and enforcement activities. OSFM’s fireworks education materials for sharing on social media also can be found on its website.

Lane Co. SO Reporting Scammers

The Lane County Sheriff’s Office has received reports that phone scammers are targeting community members again. The scammers have been posing as Sheriff’s Office employees and using names of actual employees. Scammers told one community member recently that they had missed jury duty and could either turn themselves into the Sheriff’s Office to serve 12 hours of jail time or pay a sum of money over $1,500. As with past scams, the victim is asked to stay on the phone. This is to ensure the victim doesn’t try to contact the agency directly, or call a loved one for guidance. Community members are then sent to one or more places to pay the "fine" until they are finally sent to a retailer that sells gift and cash cards. Scammers then ask for the numbers off the cards to access the funds. In one case, the scammers recontacted the victim and demanded more money, this time saying they would only accept a debit card. These phone calls are SCAMS. The Lane County Sheriff’s Office will not contact you over the phone for a warrant, we will visit you in person. The Lane County Sheriff’s Office will NEVER ask for payment in the form of gift or cash cards, and we will NEVER ask you to stay on the phone while you obtain funds. Scammers play on fear to get you to part with your hard earned money. If you suspect a call is a scam, HANG UP and call the agency back at their publicly listed number. Prevention Partnership with Local Retailers - Several months ago local law enforcement agencies teamed up to create flyers for local retailers to place near gift and cash card displays in stores. The flyers were designed to provide information to possible victims who may be there to purchase gift/cash cards in response to a scam call. We have heard from several people who have realized they were being scammed due to the flyers or because a thoughtful employee mentioned the phone scams. We would like to thank our local retailers for their partnership with law enforcement to stop scammers for good!

night. As Search and Rescue, and Sheriff's Office personnel arrived at Norton Gulch in the morning, a Coast Guard helicopter and boat were already searching the area. There were also family and friends that had been out searching the area since the initial call was made. With the assistance of the Oregon State Parks department, an Incident Command was set up at the Norton Gulch day use area. During the initial investigation by Sheriff's Deputies the missing person was identified as 17 year old Ian Spalding of North Bend, Oregon. Throughout the day, over 100 volunteers assisted with the search effort. Friends, family, community member volunteers, along with members of the Charleston Fire Department, Coast Guard command, and the Bandon Fire Department Dive team were involved. Coast Guard resources searched the area from Sunset Beach State Park to Bandon using both helicopter and boat. Also, a privately owned unidentified airplane searched the area as well. Search and Rescue members, Sheriff's Office personnel, and volunteers searched the surrounding trails and shoreline from Sunset Beach to the Cape Arago State park located at the end of Cape Arago Highway. The Dive team, with the assistance of a Coast Guard helicopter was taken to the area Ian was last seen by witnesses. Unfortunately, due to strong currents and less than two feet of visibility in the water, the dive search was called off. After meeting with Coast Guard command and taking into account the large search effort and number of searchers, the search for Ian was suspended by the Sheriff's Office this afternoon. The Coos County Sheriff's Office would like to thank the United States Coast Guard, the Charleston Fire Department, the Bandon Fire Department Dive Team, Oregon State Parks, and the numerous volunteers for their assistance during the search. Our thoughts and prayers are with the family and friends of Ian Spalding.

Second Search Unsuccessful

CCSO release - Divers redeployed Tuesday morning June 2, 2020 in an attempt to attain better visibility than the previous night, and to finish searching the area around the last known point that Mr. Spalding fell into the ocean. Unfortunately, they were unable to find anything, and again had to discontinue the search. It has been brought to our attention that the PR from last night spelled Ian's last name as "Spaulding" when it is in fact "Spalding". The author has been made aware of the mistake. Our continued thoughts and hopes go out to Ian's family and friends.

Guilty of Fraud

A 67-year old male who allegedly claimed he represented the late Disco era singing group "The Village People" in an attempted fraud of the Mill Casino in North Bend pled guilty Tuesday, June 2, in Federal Court Portland to Wire Fraud charges. Howard Harlib, described by authorities as a long-time conman was sentenced to "time served." Harlib had signed an artistic engagement contract with the Casino in August of 2015 for a January 2016 concert date. However, Coquille Tribe officials learned later that the group was also booked to perform in Florida on the same day as the North Bend booking. Harlib received $12,500 for the booking. That's the same amount U.S. District Court Judge Ann Aiken ordered repaid in restitution to the Tribe. Harlib has been in custody in Florida since 2016 on unrelated charges. He'll also be on three-years of Federal Supervision.

Concerns in Coos Co. about Potential Protests

CCSO release - During the past 36 hours the Coos County Sheriff's office has been inundated with calls from local citizens, businesses and outside organizations regarding information related both a potential peaceful protests and the possibility of it being used as a cover for possibly planned unlawful activities. The information obtained specifically indicated that there are certain organizations that may attempt to use the peaceful protest as a cover to conduct unlawful and dangerous activities, that would threaten the community and public property. The Sheriff's Office is aware of the potential threats, and has shared the information it has obtained with all local Law Enforcement agencies. They, in turn have been collecting and sharing any information they've found. For the public safety of the citizens of Coos County, a significant effort has been put into planning and coordinating an appropriate response to any peaceful and / or unlawful activities. These plans have been developed with the input from local and State law enforcement. The plans are being shared with local and state agencies, and preparations are underway to protect our local communities. Unlawful activity, including threat of injury or loss of property will not be tolerated. We wish to thank our citizens and business leaders for their cooperation in dealing with this potential problem.

Pointing a Gun at Protestors

On Saturday, June 6, 2020, at about 1:40 PM Coos Bay Police received calls from several concerned citizens protesting on South Broadway Street near the intersection of Curtis Avenue. It was reported that a male in a black truck stopped at the location and allegedly pointed a handgun at several protestors at the intersection. Police responded and spoke with several witnesses who obtained pictures of the male and his vehicle. With the help of several citizens Coos Bay Police were able to identify the operator of the vehicle as 36-year-old Brandon Moore of Coos Bay. Moore was arrested for menacing and disorderly conduct in the second degree. Moore was transported to the Coos County Jail.

Brandon Moore is scheduled to appear in Court July 8. Coos Bay Police released on his own recognizance following his arrest. ### Seeking Witnesses

Coos Co. District Attorney R. Paul Frasier is attempting to locate witnesses to an altercation on the Boardwalk in Coos Bay, Saturday, June 7, where a male allegedly brandished a gun. According to a release from the DA, “in reading the report, the responding officer noted upon arrival that he had been ‘surrounded by a group of ... people’ who described what they had seen. While four persons were willing to be identified and interviewed, the remainder of the group ‘distanced themselves’ from the officer when he attempted to find out what they saw. As a result, these potential witnesses were not identified and not interview.” Frasier requests “all persons who witnessed what happened last Saturday, even if such persons did not see the whole event, to come forward and be interviewed by the Coos Bay Police Dept.”

they had fallen from the cliffs while hiking at Cape Arago near Coos Bay, Thursday, June 11. Watchstanders at Coast Guard Sector North Bend received an agency assist request from Coos County Dispatch, at 12:04 p.m. for two people who had fallen from the cliff. The mother reported no medical concerns, but her 18-year-old son sustained multiple head wounds and required hospitalization. Sector North Bend watchstanders diverted an MH-65 Dolphin helicopter crew already in transit from Air Facility Newport and directed the launch of another aircrew from Sector North Bend. The first helicopter crew arrived on scene at 12:25 p.m. and located the mother below the top of the cliff, clinging to vegetation. The crew safely hoisted and transported the mother to Sector North Bend. The second helicopter crew arrived on scene at 1:03 p.m. and located the son 36-feet down the cliff face. A rescue swimmer deployed from the helicopter and prepared him for hoist using a rescue litter. The son was airlifted directly to Bay Area Hospital for treatment. EMS transferred his mother from Sector North Bend to Bay Area Hospital. Their condition is not known at this time. "The Coast Guard is constantly training for missions exactly like this one," said Lt. Cmdr. Nathaniel Champlin, the senior aircraft commander at Sector North Bend. "The Advanced Helicopter Rescue School comes to the Pacific Northwest every year to maintain proficiencies in, what we call, vertical surface rescues. Pulling survivors off cliff faces is critical to the Coast Guard's ability to save lives. We were absolutely ready for this."

All adults in custody were ordered to separate and One Feather was removed from the housing unit. Medical staff on duty were notified of the incident. The incident was investigated by Deputy Cloud who charged One Feather with Assault IV and Harassment. One Feather was lodged in the Lincoln County Jail on a Probation Violation on May 13th, 2020 and is currently being held on both cases. The Lincoln County Jail has several staff members who investigate crimes within the jail such as assaults. Incidents in the jail do not always rise to the level of criminal charges. The jail has internal procedures for holding adults in custody accountable in those cases, such as loss of privileges.

Central Coast Jail back in Operation

The Lincoln County Jail will begin accepting arrestees for more charges on June 9, 2020. Through continued community partnerships the Lincoln County Jail has been able to verify through testing if an Adult In Custody (AIC) is COVID-19 positive or negative prior to housing. With that in mind, there is still a real concern based on the reemergence of the infection as our County, State and the Country begin to open up. Jails are extremely susceptible because of their very nature for outbreaks and quick transmissions because of close proximity. Although social distancing is challenging in a corrections environment, it is the cornerstone of reducing the transmission of respiratory diseases such as COVID-19. All Sheriff's Office staff as well as our AIC have been required to wear a facial covering, have their temperature checked once per day, and to the best extent possible, practice social distancing. The ability to institute these precautionary measures allows the management team to evaluate facility and community needs on a consistent basis. The goal is to balance safety in the community with safety in the jail. The operational needs of our facility and community safety remain our priority. The jail serves as a functional component of the criminal justice system. We understand the need to operate a safe facility while also ensuring our community feels safe. Our process will require gradual customizing and prioritizing arrests so we can balance our housing capability, address our classification concerns, set up pretrial justice for success and not overwhelm them with clients they won't be able to recommend for release. We want to hold those accountable who are taxing the criminal justice system with multiple arrests, support our local and out of county agencies by transporting wanted subjects into and out of our county on holds and send the message that accountability and community safety is our priority. While evaluating current practices and addressing community needs, we have further evaluated our ability to allow law enforcement partners to lodge additional individuals when facility spacing and needs allow. As we gradually phase in these additional charges, we continue to educate and talk with our staff as well as our partners about the underlying nature of the arrest. As a community partner, we are looking to expand our ability to hold individuals accountable but also understand that jail is not always the best choice. We know, if we are able to address the underlying cause, assist the individual with getting the resources he/she needs then over time we will not only reduce our facility population but we will also ensure a safer community for everyone. Sheriff Landers stated, "We were fortunate to have programs in place like our pretrial release program and our COMET (Community Outreach and Mental Health Enhancement Team) program prior to COVID-19. These programs help facilitate a number of solutions to keeping our community safe while reducing our jail population due to COVID-19 concerns. This is an opportunity to further evaluate how we can address our AIC population while keeping the community safe." Effective Tuesday June 9, 2020 (as facility spacing allows) law enforcement will be authorized to lodge A and B felonies; and all person to person (misdemeanor or felony) crimes (this includes all assaults, menacing, etc). In the future, additional phases will institute additional arrest authorizations as the testing for COVID-19 in the jail remains active, the jail remains stable and the community spread of COVID-19 is reduced.

DOUGLAS COUNTY, Ore. - A newly certified Patrol K9 Team is on duty in Douglas County. In September 2019, the Sheriff's Office received an anonymous donation from a member of the community which allowed for the purchase of a third Patrol K9. ### Skeletal Remains in Douglas Co. Identified

GARDINER, Ore. - Skeletal human remains found in October 2016 near Gardiner have been positively identified through DNA science. On Saturday, October 1, 2016, at 6:20 pm, while fishing, a subject's boat broke down on the Umpqua River in the area of the former

Genelle McDaniel

International Paper Mill. The fisherman was able to get his boat to shore. While gathering wood for a fire, the fisherman found what he believed to be human bones along the riverbank.

In November 2016, the Sheriff's Office released the preliminary findings of an examination of the remains by Oregon State Medical Examiner Forensic Anthropologist, Dr. Nici Vance. Dr. Vance determined the remains to be that of a Caucasian female, likely between the ages of 30 to 55 at the time of her death. Due to the advanced state of decomposition of the partial remains, physical characteristics such as height, weight, hair color and eye color and ethnicity were unknown at the time. It was determined that the female had been deceased between one to three years. The Medical Examiner's investigation continued and included attempts to make identification through the use of DNA and dental records. In 2018, an extensive two-part news story was conducted by KMTR, but no viable tips were generated as a result of that story. In November 2019, a private laboratory DNA Solutions, produced a new type of DNA profile and compared it to the public family genealogy website, GEDMatch. Subsequently, a probable familial DNA match was identified. The Douglas County Medical Examiner's Office followed up on the newly obtained information and contacted the family member of the unidentified person. Through the investigation, the remains were identified as those belonging to Genelle McDaniel, a resident of Eugene, Oregon who was born in 1954. McDaniel had not been previously reported to law enforcement as a missing person. The follow-up investigation revealed circumstantial information which leads investigators to believe McDaniel's death was likely the result of suicide. This case involved an extensive amount of work on behalf of several organizations. "Being able to identify Genelle and provide her family with some answers is the goal we have been working toward," said Craig Kinney, Douglas County's Chief Medicolegal Death Investigator. Dr. Nici Vance adds, "Our hope is to bring resolution to families in these cases. With new DNA technology and collaboration, the efforts of many people finally gave this mystery woman a name. Our condolences go out to the family of Genelle McDaniel."

Roseburg Male Arrested

RIDDLE, Ore. - A Roseburg man was taken into custody on Thursday after shooting a firearm and pointing it at another person. On Thursday, June 18, 2020, shortly before 2:30 PM, 9-1-1 dispatchers received a report of a shooting in the 300-block of Evergreen Ridge Road. ## USCG

Coast Guard urges boaters to register EPIRBs, file float plans

SEATTLE - Every year the Coast Guard makes thousands of phone calls to mariners, boat owners and emergency points of contact in response to receiving distress alerts from emergency position indicating radio beacons. An EPIRB is a beacon that alerts the Coast Guard that the vessel registered to the EPIRB is in distress and requires a search and rescue response. These alerts can often mean the difference between the life and death of persons on the water and have been critical to providing rescue teams with the necessary information to quickly and effectively respond. How does an EPIRB work? These devices can be activated either manually or automatically when submerged in water. Once activated, the device will release a signal that is picked up by a satellite and transferred to the nearest receiving Land User Terminal. The land terminal forwards the signal to the United States Mission Control Center, which then passes the information to the applicable Coast Guard

District for response action. Once received, the Coast Guard activates the Search and Rescue system and uses the beacon registration information and the position provided from the satellite to coordinate response. One of the most effective means to locate the vessels and persons in distress is by calling individuals associated with the beacon's registration – which may be you! If you are receiving a call from the Coast Guard about an EPIRB alert, it is likely that you are listed as a point of contact or emergency point of contact on the beacon registration. When receiving this call, it is important to note that the vessel may or may not be in distress, but more information is needed to verify. Some alerts are released in error; however, the Coast Guard responds to each alert as an actual distress until it can be confirmed otherwise. In some cases, a position is not obtained by the satellite, leaving search and rescue authorities with only the beacon's registration information to determine a vessel's location and distress situation. Out of date, or improperly registered beacons, can make locating the vessel in distress difficult and impede the response time of search and rescue teams. It is of critical importance that owners update beacon registration when acquiring a new vessel, when point of contact information changes, or, at a minimum, every two years as required by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. In addition to having an up to date EPIRB, it is always best practice to leave a float plan detailing your voyage intentions, whether short or long, with a friend or emergency contact. "While we don't keep float plans for you, we do recommend that you keep your loved ones informed, especially if they are a part of your EPIRB registration," said Scott Giard, Search and Rescue Program Manager for the 13th Coast Guard District. "If your family can confirm that you are underway and can provide a general location, it helps our crews get to you that much faster if you are in actual distress." The Coast Guard has a boating safety app available at <https://uscgboating.org/mobile/>, which features a virtual float plan that can be emailed to anyone the boater chooses. For more information about EPIRBs and registration questions, please visit NOAA's Search and Rescue Satellite Aided Tracking website at <https://www.sarsat.noaa.gov/faq%20.html>. To register your EPIRB, visit <https://www.beaconregistration.noaa.gov> and select Register Your Beacon. There, you can update your beacon registration, report if it is lost or stolen, learn to properly dispose your old beacons and batteries, correctly test your 406 MHz beacon, and more.

USCG Rescues Young Surfers

AGATE BEACH, Ore. -- The Coast Guard and partner agencies rescued three adults and four children from the cliffs Friday, May 29 south of Yaquina Head near Agate Beach, near Newport. The seven people were reportedly swept away by a rip current and became trapped on the cliffs. Watchstanders at Coast Guard Sector North Bend received a report of four children in distress. The children, ages 8, 9, 13 and 16, were surfing when the strong current pushed them from safer waters. Sector North Bend watchstanders directed the launch of Coast Guard crews and issued an urgent marine information broadcast at 2:45 p.m. At this time, An MH-65 Dolphin rescue helicopter crew launched from Air Facility Newport, and two Station Yaquina Bay 47-foot Motor Lifeboat crews diverted from training. The Station Yaquina Bay boatcrews arrived on scene at approximately 3:00 p.m. and confirmed there were seven people stranded on the rocks near Yaquina Head. The aircrew arrived on scene at 3:15 p.m. A rescue swimmer deployed from the helicopter and coordinated with a Newport Fire Department ropes team to hoist six persons, including the four children, into the aircraft before being transported to local EMS waiting nearby ashore. The final distressed person was recovered by the ropes team. All seven distressed persons were evaluated by EMS, and no injuries were reported. "Powerful tides and currents are common in the Pacific Northwest," said Lt. Cmdr. Nathaniel Champlin, chief duty officer at the Sector North Bend command center. "Boaters, paddlers and surfers alike should monitor the tides and expected weather conditions, and use discretion when conditions may be dangerous."

Rescue at Cape Flattery

USCG release - SEATTLE — A Coast Guard aircrew hoisted three adults and one child to safety late Tuesday night, June 16 from a cliff side near Cape Flattery. Watchstanders at Coast Guard Sector Puget Sound command center received a distress call on VHF-channel 16 at 10 p.m. from the captain of a disabled 28-foot vessel stating they were beginning to drift near the cliffs between Tatoosh Island and Cape Flattery. A Coast Guard Air Station Port Angeles MH-65 Dolphin helicopter rescue crew launched, and a Coast Guard Station Neah Bay 47-foot Motor Lifeboat crew diverted to the area. The boatcrew arrived on scene at 10:30 p.m. but were unable to get close enough to the stricken vessel. All four were wearing life jackets and climbed onto a ledge before their boat capsized around 10:45 p.m. At 11 p.m., the aircrew arrived on scene. The rescue swimmer was deployed to hoist the individuals one by one into the helicopter. After hoisting the first two people, the helicopter crew flew to Station Neah Bay to drop the survivors off. Around midnight, the remaining individuals were hoisted and brought safely to Neah Bay. All four reported no medical concerns. Weather on scene was reported as 6-foot seas with 20 mph winds.

Rescue off Chetco River

BANNING, Ore. — Crew members from Coast Guard Station Chetco River and good Samaritans rescued three men from a capsized vessel Saturday, June 27 outside the mouth of the Chetco River. At 10:45 a.m. watchstanders at Coast Guard Station Chetco River received a relay from 911 dispatch that a 19-foot recreational vessel had capsized just outside the bar at the mouth of the river. Watchstanders diverted crews aboard two 29-foot Response Boat-Small already deployed on training exercises in the vicinity and responded to the scene in approximately four minutes. All three men were not wearing life jackets when their vessel was suddenly swamped by the wake of another passing vessel. The vessel was salvaged after all three men were brought to shore without any reported injuries. They clung to flotsam and swam in 60-degree water to reach nearby vessels. One had already been pulled aboard by the good Samaritans when the Coast Guard arrived. The survivors were transferred aboard one of the 29-foot RBS and transported back to the marina where emergency medical service technicians were waiting to provide first aid, which the survivors declined. Crew members on the other 29-foot RBS were able to attach a tow line to the capsized vessel and right it. With the help of the vessel's still-functioning dewatering system on board, coupled with the forward motion and the help of a crew member with a bucket-bailing system, the vessel was saved and moored safely at the port of Brookings harbor. "It is incredibly important for people to wear life jackets when engaged in watercraft activities," said Petty Officer 3rd Class Cody Vallejo, of Coast Guard Station Chetco River. "We saw today that an incident can occur so quickly that there is no time to don a lifejacket in the moment. These people today were very lucky to have good Samaritans so close by, but it could have just as easily gone the other way. Life jackets save lives."
