ShakeAlert Preparing Oregonians

Salem, OR – Wildfires, floods, volcanoes and earthquakes: Oregon has its share of natural hazards. Each of these hazards presents unique challenges, but one of the biggest challenges for earthquake preparedness is unpredictability. Earthquakes strike without warning, causing widespread damage in a matter of seconds. Fortunately, there is a preparedness tool, ShakeAlert® Earthquake Early Warning, coming to Oregon on March 11. ShakeAlert does not predict earthquakes. Rather, it uses a network of sensors to detect an earthquake that has just begun. Data from the sensors are used by ShakeAlert processing centers to calculate the estimated quake magnitude and intensity. Alert distribution providers (e.g. operators of purpose-built apps) create an alert which can be delivered to wireless devices – in a matter of seconds – potentially reaching device users before the shaking does. In the seconds between receiving an alert and feeling shaking, people can protect themselves by dropping, covering and holding on. “One of the reasons earthquakes are unpredictable is due to a phenomenon called ‘stick-slip,’” explains Jenny Crayne, an educator with the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry (OMSI), which is supporting outreach and education related to ShakeAlert. The push and pull of plate tectonics puts pressure on rocks within the earth. But rather than glide smoothly along, the rock “sticks,” held fast by friction. Sooner or later, and without notice, pressure overcomes this friction and the rock “slips,” resulting in an earthquake. By studying past earthquakes and by mapping and monitoring movement along plate boundaries and faults, seismologists can identify areas, like the Pacific Northwest, with a high earthquake hazard, explains Crayne. Seismologists can also look at recurrence interval (the average amount of time between quakes) to estimate the likelihood of an earthquake occurring in the future. But probabilities aren’t predictions; no one knows exactly where the next earthquake will occur, or when. This is why ShakeAlert Earthquake Early Warning is such a valuable preparedness tool. By rapidly detecting earthquakes and deploying alerts, the System can offer live-saving seconds for individuals. ShakeAlert-powered alerts can also be used to trigger automated actions such as closing a gas valve or slowing a train. These actions can prevent cascading infrastructure failures in the aftermath of an earthquake. ShakeAlert is an easy-to-use tool. Beginning March 11, 2021, mobile devices in Oregon will be able to receive ShakeAlert-powered alerts via Wireless Emergency Alert (WEA), just like a severe weather or AMBER alert. All WEA alerts, regardless of type, behave the same. The device makes a distinctive notification sound and the alert pops up in a text window on the screen. Some devices with text-to-voice capability may read out the message text. In the case of an earthquake alert, the WEA text will read: “Earthquake Detected! Drop, Cover, Hold On. Protect Yourself. -USGS ShakeAlert.” This message is available in Spanish for phones set to receive alerts in that language. ShakeAlert-powered alerts can also be delivered through purpose-built apps; newer Android phones have ShakeAlert capacity built into the operating system, offering a third alert delivery route. “ShakeAlert can offer critical seconds of advance warning before we feel the impacts of shaking from an earthquake,” says Oregon Office of Emergency Management Director Andrew Phelps. “These precious seconds allow people to take protective actions to increase their chances of being disaster survivors rather than disaster victims.”

plan well in advance, before an earthquake and tsunami occur,” says Jon Allan, Oregon Department of Geology and Mineral Industries Coastal Geomorphologist. “With this information, you can practice your route, whether from your home, school, or work. Every minute will count after a local earthquake.” This initial rollout of the tool is for the communities of Seaside, Rockaway Beach, Pacific City, and Coos Bay. Users who create free NANOOS accounts can save their markers and paths for later reference. Over the past year, the Oregon Department of Geology and Mineral Industries (DOGAMI) has collaborated with the University of Oregon InfoGraphics Lab and GIS Mapping Program to convert tsunami evacuation modeling results for these four pilot communities, in order to build a tsunami routable road network that would allow users to determine the best route out of the tsunami zone automatically via a web-based portal. Paths to safety for all Oregon coastal communities are being developed and will be added when available. NANOOS NVS Tsunami Evacuation Zones users can also print out tsunami hazard zone maps for their areas, and use the app on smartphones. The path to safety functionality is being developed to display on both the custom printable maps and smartphones. The path to DOGAMI release - March 11, 2021 marks the 10th anniversary of the 2011 T?hoku earthquake and tsunami, and is a good time to prepare for a tsunami on the Pacific Northwest Coast - The coasts of Oregon, Washington, and Northern California are exposed to tsunamis from distant earthquakes, such as the March 11, 2011, T?hoku, Japan event, which killed more than 15,000 people. However, the greatest risk to Northwest coastal communities is from a very large locally generated tsunami produced by an earthquake (magnitude 8-9+) occurring immediately offshore the Pacific Northwest coast on the Cascadia Subduction Zone. A new online feature in the Northwest Association of Networked Ocean Observing Systems (NANOOS) Visualization System (NVS) Tsunami Evacuation Zones viewer now integrates those results by providing a custom map view showing your quickest street route to safety outside the tsunami zone after a local Cascadia earthquake. The tool also shows the distance to safety and how fast you need to travel to escape the tsunami. “Knowing the specific path you need to take to reach high ground quickly will help coastal residents and visitors

Another Drug Take Back Day in April

SEATTLE – With opioid overdose deaths increasing during the pandemic, the Drug Enforcement Administration announced its 20th Take Back Day scheduled for April 24, 2021. At its last Take Back Day in October, DEA collected a record-high amount of expired, unused prescription medications, with the public turning in close to 500 tons of unwanted drugs. Over the 10-year span of Take Back Day, DEA has brought in more than 6,800 tons of prescription drugs. With studies indicating a majority of abused prescription drugs come from family and friends, including from home medicine cabinets, clearing out unused medicine is essential. "The DEA Take Back is a safe, convenient, and responsible program to dispose of prescription drugs and keeping your family and our communities safe," said DEA Special Agent in Charge Frank Tarentino. "This initiative is more vital now than ever before due to the alarming spike in overdose deaths throughout our nation. I hope to see record breaking participation this April, which will contribute to the safety of all our citizens and the communities." Last October, residents of Alaska, Idaho, Oregon, and Washington turned in an all-time record for the Pacific Northwest of 40,517 pounds at 150 collection sites. In addition, Alaska and Idaho had all-time record collections. Collection numbers by state are as follows: Alaska, 4,598 pounds at 16 collection sites. Idaho, 10,526 pounds at 42 collection sites. Oregon, 11,551 pounds at 45 collection sites. Washington, 13,842 pounds at 56 collection sites. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the U.S. has seen an increase in overdose deaths during the COVID-19 pandemic, with 83,544 Americans overdosing during the 12-month period ending July 1, 2020, the most ever recorded in a 12-month period. The increase in drug overdose deaths appeared to begin prior to the COVID-19 health emergency, but accelerated significantly during the first months of the pandemic. The public can drop off potentially dangerous prescription medications at collection sites which will adhere to local COVID-19 guidelines and regulations in order to maintain the safety of all participants and local law enforcement. DEA and its partners will collect tablets, capsules, patches, and other solid forms of prescription drugs. Liquids (including intravenous solutions), syringes and other sharps, and illegal drugs will not be accepted. DEA will continue to accept vaping devices and cartridges at its drop off locations provided lithium batteries are removed. Helping people dispose of potentially harmful prescription drugs is just one way DEA is working to reduce addiction and stem overdose deaths. World War II Bell Recovered

In the Fall of 2020 the Lane County Sheriff's Office received a report of theft from a property that burned during the Holiday Farm Fire. The stolen property, a unique World War II-era US Navy ship bell, survived the fire despite all of the property around it burning to the ground. This bell had been obtained through proper channels by a serviceman upon the decommissioning of the U.S.S.

Kermit Roosevelt. This bell is one of a kind and invaluable to its owners. After months of investigation, the bell was located and returned to its owners. Working from an anonymous tip, officers from the Springfield Police Department and Springfield Public Works staff played a vital role in locating and recovering this very heavy and valuable piece of US history.

Catching Slough Crash

CCSO release - On March 7, 2021, at about 1:56 AM, The Coos County Sheriff's Office received a 911 call which plotted to mile post 1 of Catching Slough Road, in which nothing but screaming could be heard. As the situation developed, it was learned there was a car crash which resulted in the vehicle coming to rest in Catching Slough. Deputies from the Coos County Sheriff's Office responded. Upon arrival, a fifteen year old juvenile female was located with some passersby. The vehicle was found hood down in Catching Slough with the passenger compartment submerged. The female was transported by ambulance to Bay Area Hospital. The investigation revealed the female had been a passenger inside of the vehicle operated by 20 year old Tristan Ornbaun along with three other occupants of the vehicle. Another occupant, a male juvenile, was also identified after he was presented for treatment at Bay Area Hospital. Through the course of the investigation, it was learned the vehicle had left the roadway, possibly hydroplaning and came to rest in Catching Slough. The driver, Tristan Ornbaun was arrested for Assault II, Assault III, Fail to Perform Duties of a Driver with Injured Persons, Reckless Driving, and Recklessly Endangering Another (2 counts). The other juvenile male was treated for minor injuries. The injured female was flown by Reach Air Ambulance to Portland due to sustaining serious physical injury. All of the occupants of the vehicle were believed to be underage and returning home after having attended an underage drinking party in the Sumner area. The matter remains under investigation. Speed and alcohol are believed to be a factor. If anyone has any information regarding this crash please contact the Coos County Sheriff's Office at 541-3967800. The Coos County Sheriff's Office was assisted by Coos Bay Police Department, Millington Fire Department and Bay Cities Ambulance.

them to waste on the North Spit of Coos Bay. There is a $1500 reward offered for information that leads to a citation in the case. All three deer were shot in the head, from relatively close range, according to Oregon State Police Fish and Wildlife Sergeant Levi Harris. Because the deer were found so close together, Harris believes they were blinded by a spotlight, which gave a shooter time to aim and drop each deer individually. In a normal hunting situation, a single shot at one deer would have startled others into flight. Black-tailed deer hunting season is currently closed. There were no footprints or tire tracks leading to the site according to US Department of Agriculture employee, Joseph Metzler, who discovered the scene as he began rounds the morning of Monday, March 23. Metzler, a member of the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) team, specializes in survival strategies of Oregon Snowy Plover populations among the dunes along the North Spit. Only off-road or four-wheel drive vehicles can access the roads. That morning, traveling on his ATV, Metzler noticed crows congregating in the area. As he rounded a bend in the road, he came upon the deer carcasses directly in front of him, on the hillside. Metzler agrees that the deer were likely spotlighted. "As soon as I came around the corner, there they were, and if it had been dark, they would have been standing right in front of my headlights on the hillside," he said. Metzler, no stranger to Oregon coast wildlife, has spent his career working with various wildlife agencies. On that day, Metzler saw a side of the occupation dreaded by all wildlife managers. "This is the worst that I've seen," he said, "All three of these animals would have matured to be nice bucks for people to take next hunting season. Each one would have filled a freezer." Reducing the number of poaching incidents across the state is a primary objective of the Oregon Hunters Association (OHA), according to Duane Dunganon, who serves on the state board. "Oregon's deer are facing so many threats from predation, habitat loss, disease and vehicle collision, that last thing we can afford is to have them senselessly slaughtered by poachers," he said. Adding a new chapter to its 38-year history, OHA manages the Turn In Poachers (TIP) reward fund for reporting poachers. The reward for information leading to a citation in this case now stands at $1500, or 12 hunter preference points. Oregon State Police requests that any person with information about this incident contact the TIP line and leave information for Trooper John Cooper. Individuals wishing to remain anonymous may also contact the Oregon State Police through the Turn in Poachers line at; TIP Hotline: 1-800-452-7888 or *OSP (677).

area near Hwy 101 and Golden Ave. The Trooper had to circle the block due to one way traffic patterns and when he completed the block the vehicle had fled from the location. Deputies and Officers from other agencies responded to the scene to assist in looking for the stolen vehicle. One Deputy was in the area of Hwy 42 and Hwy 101 and began traveling towards Coos Bay in the event the stolen vehicle fled southbound on Hwy 101. This Deputy located the vehicle driving southbound on Hwy 101 near Coos Summer Lane at a high rate of speed. The Deputy immediately notified other officers he had located the vehicle and attempted to conduct a traffic stop. The vehicle continued southbound on Hwy 101 failing to yield to the pursuing deputy. A vehicle pursuit ensued reaching speeds of 110 mph. Due to the reckless driving of the suspect the Deputy engaged in a "slack pursuit" backing off of the stolen vehicle approximately 300 yards in efforts to allow the suspect ample opportunity to abandon the vehicle and flee on foot while not further endangering the public. Ultimately the slack pursuit worked, and the suspect abandoned the vehicle on Hwy 101 near Meadowhill Road. The suspect fled from the stolen vehicle into brush off the west side of the road. A perimeter was immediately set by Bandon Police, Oregon State Police and the Coos County Sheriff's Office. Coos County Sheriff's K9 Odin was called to the scene to track for the suspect. After approximately a 450 yard track K-9 Odin located the suspect, who was identified as 28 year old Landon D. Rondema of Portland in thick brush and gorse. Landon was taken into custody without further incident after being located by K9 Odin. This capture marked K9 Odin's 103 criminal apprehension as a member of the Coos County Sheriff's Office. The Coos County Sheriff's Office would like to thank the Oregon State Police, Coos Bay Police, Bandon Police and all the citizens who witnessed the event and moved out of the way allowing law enforcement clear access to apprehend the suspect.

Irvin Isaac Kelly

Dispatch received a report of a crash on Transpacific Parkway near mile post two. Upon the Coos County Deputy's arrival, the Deputy found marks on the road way leading to a damaged vehicle which had been parked unattended on the side of the road. The marks continued through the dirt off of the roadway to a red sedan with significant front-end damage. The Deputy made contact with 31-year-old Irvin Isaac Kelly who was standing near the red damaged sedan. After Kelly made several statements about driving around the corner too fast, and the Deputy smelling the strong odor of an intoxicating beverage coming from Kelly's breath, the Deputy asked Kelly if he would consent to SFST's and Kelly consented to the tests. After completing the tests, Kelly was placed under arrest for Driving Under the Influence of Intoxicants. Kelly was transported to the North Bend Police Department, where he later refused to submit to a breath test. A search warrant was applied for and granted. Kelly was transported to the Bay Area Hospital where a blood sample was obtained. Kelly was issued citations for DUII, Reckless Driving, DWS (Mis) and Breath Teat Refusal. Kelly was released to a responsible party.

Central Coast Male Sentenced in Federal Court

EUGENE, Ore.—A Lincoln City, Oregon man with multiple felony convictions was sentenced to federal prison today for his role in a conspiracy to distribute large quantities of methamphetamine in and around Lincoln City and illegally possessing a firearm, announced Acting U.S. Attorney Scott Erik Asphaug. Felix Daniel Garcia-Mendoza, 28, was sentenced to 204 months in federal prison and five years' supervised release. "The U.S. Attorney's Office is committed to doing everything we can to reduce drug trafficking and violent crime across Oregon. A key pillar of our strategy is to reduce illegal gun ownership and use by drug traffickers," said Acting U.S. Attorney Asphaug. "I applaud our law enforcement partners for their persistence in bringing Mr. Garcia-Mendoza to justice and making our coastal communities safer in the process." "The brazenness of Garcia-Mendoza's actions clearly warrant this significant sentence," said ATF Seattle Field Division Assistant Special Agent in Charge Jonathan E. Blais. "He showed a complete disregard for the law and jeopardized the community as a whole. The removal of Garcia-Mendoza and his co-conspirators from the streets will help make Lincoln City and Lincoln County safer." According to court documents, beginning in March 2018, agents with the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives (ATF) began infiltrating the Lincoln City methamphetamine market. Soon after, one of Garcia-Mendoza's co-conspirators brokered the sale of a quarter pound of methamphetamine from Garcia-Mendoza to an undercover agent. At their initial meeting, agents purchased 113 grams of methamphetamine from Garcia-Mendoza. Garcia-Mendoza met repeatedly with undercover agents and sold them increasingly larger quantities of methamphetamine. On one occasion, in June 2018, Garcia-Mendoza sold the agents more than one and half pounds of methamphetamine. Garcia-Mendoza also sold the undercover agents a handgun later determined to have been stolen from a Lincoln City gun shop. He wore a Glock pistol prominently in his waistband during various transactions and displayed it by raising his shirt and pulling it out during deals. On December 12, 2018, a federal grand jury in Eugene returned an 11-count indictment charging Garcia-Mendoza with conspiracy to possess with intent to distribute methamphetamine, possession with intent to distribute methamphetamine, felon in possession of a firearm, possession of a stolen firearm, and possession of a firearm in furtherance of a drug trafficking crime. He was arrested on January 5, 2019 and pleaded guilty to all but three of the charges on January 20, 2020. Three other co-defendants—Billy Jack Reese, Jr., 42, of Lincoln City, Oregon; James Levi Boyer, 51, of Springfield, Oregon; and Patricia Rose Hedrick, 25, of Newport, Oregon—were charged and have pleaded guilty to conspiring with Garcia-Mendoza to distribute methamphetamine. All were sentenced to time served

Four Oregon hotels/motels, including one on the Coast and another in Roseburg, have been fined by the State of Oregon for price gouging during last year's wildfires. The establishments will reportedly pay $105,600 in penalties and reimburse at least 100 customers. Oregon Attorney General Ellen Rosenblum identified the four as Le Chateau Inn of Florence. The motel reportedly charged $89 to $125 a night, but last Days Inn, Roseburg, raised rates from no more than $150 a night to $200 to $300 a night. They will pay $4,860 to 31 customers and pay the State $31,000. The other two were the Rodeway Inn, Corvallis, rates allegedly went up 15%. They will pay $918 to 23 customers and $15,00 to the State. The last was Capital Inn & Suites in Salem. Room rate was $60 to $80 a night but jumped to as much as $146 during the wildfires. They have already refunded $1,342 to customers and agreed to pay the State a $38,000.

Large Scale Fraud Case

DOUGLAS COUNTY, Ore. - On Friday, February 26, 2021, Deputies with the Douglas County Sheriff's Office served search warrants in Elkton and Cottage Grove, Oregon, in regard to a five-month long investigation into a fraudulent non-profit organization ran by an individual using the alias of "John P Hope." During the course of the investigation, "Hope" was identified as 40 year-old Tyrone Curtis Powell. Powell was arrested during the execution of the search warrants. In the later months of 2020, deputies began an investigation into the suspected fraudulent transaction of privately-owned property to a foundation called the "Impossible Roads Foundation," which was ran by Powell. The victim in the transaction was elderly and under the impression the foundation was a legitimate non-profit organization that built tiny-homes for disabled veterans. The victim originally had agreed to donate approximately 3 acres to the foundation, believing it was legitimate, but during the transaction Powell actually obtained approximately 30.8 acres and a shop. Powell immediately began assuming the shop and property as his own property after the transaction. After the transaction for the property, Powell obtained Restraining Orders against the victim and filed criminal reports accusing the victim of other crimes, such as burglary and theft. Powell filed these reports and court documents using the alias of "John Hope." Deputies initially investigated "Hope's" identity and learned that his actual name was Tyrone Curtis Powell. During this portion of the investigation, deputies learned Powell had been raised in California, attended Yale University and resided in Arizona, where he became involved in fraudulent activity. Also, during this time, Powell operated separate/unrelated fraudulent non-profit organizations under the names of "The Missing Piece Foundation," "True Story World," "The Missing Piece Foundation Endowment," "Machine Seven Super Car Tour," and "Love." While in Arizona, Powell's fraudulent activity began to catch up with him in both criminal and civil proceedings. In 2009, Powell was arrested for altering a VIN on a vehicle in which he had obtained a loan, then reported stolen and removed the VIN and license plate. Powell also became involved in civil litigation for defaulting on loans. Powell made claims to law enforcement that he was a victim of identity theft resulting in hundreds of thousand dollars in loss. In approximately 2010 an obituary for Powell was printed in the local newspaper. A couple years later Powell fled Arizona. Powell is believed to have traveled to Alaska, initially, and then shortly there after to Bellingham, Washington. Once in Bellingham, Powell assumed the identity of "John Hope." Powell was able to illegally obtain a Washington Identification card and Social Security card under the new alias with his fraudulent story. While in Bellingham, Powell again started another fraudulent non-profit organization, Impossible Roads Foundation. Under this fraudulent organization, Powell claimed to build tiny homes for disabled veterans. Powell obtained large donations from companies such as Home Depot and Matson, as well as others. In January of 2021, deputies traveled to Bellingham, Washington. While in Bellingham deputies interviewed multiple individuals, who were familiar with Powell, who knew him as "John Hope." While in Bellingham, deputies also investigated the Impossible Roads Foundation and its claims of building tiny homes. Through the investigation, deputies learned the majority of the donated items were not being utilized and were essentially abandoned. Furthermore, it was learned the majority of shipping containers, which were donated under the pretenses they were to be used as the tiny home structures, had been sold to a company or individuals. Deputies also investigated some of Powell's history in Arizona and were able to contact an individual who was able to provide detailed history on Powell's behavior and sudden disappearance from Arizona. Based on the information learned in the investigation, Deputies applied for and were granted search warrants for Powell's hotel room in Cottage Grove as well as the shop in Elkton, Oregon. Powell was arrested and lodged at the Douglas County Jail on the following charges: • Aggravated Theft by Deception in the 1st Degree, • Identity Theft, Forgery in the 1st Degree, • Perjury (2 counts), • False Swearing (2 counts), • Criminal Possession of a Forged Instruments in the 1st Degree, • Unlawful Possession of a Fictitious Identification, • Fraudulently Obtaining a Signature. Additional charges may follow. Deputies were assisted by the Douglas County District Attorney's Office, Federal Law Enforcement with the Social Security Administration, Bellingham Police Department, Washington State Patrol, and Casa Grande Police Department (Arizona). The Sheriff's Office is asking anyone with information in regards to this investigation or Powell, please contact the Douglas County Sheriff's Office at dco.pio@co.douglas.or.us or through the tip line at 541-957-2099.
